A life dedicated to service

NINTH PRESIDENT: DR. LUNS C. RICHARDSON 1974 - PRESENT

Our President...

Dr. Luns C. Richardson, a Hartsville, SC native, is the longest serving college president in South Carolina and the second longest serving president among UNCF institutions. He graduated magna cum laude from Benedict College and received a master's degree in Higher Education Administration from Teachers College of Columbia University.

During Dr. Richardson's tenure as president of Morris College, the institution has liquidated a half-million-dollar indebtedness, achieved accreditation from the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, and gained membership in UNCF. Another historical feat is that two of the college's academic programs have obtained national accreditation. The Business Administration Program is nationally accredited through the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP) and the Teacher Education Program is nationally accredited through the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE). The endowment has grown from $30,000 to over $5 million and the library's holdings have increased from 21,000 to over 144,000 volumes. Fifteen new majors have been added along with an Army ROTC Unit.

Dr. Richardson holds memberships in and renders active service to numerous educational, fraternal, religious, social service and community service organizations. He is a life member of the NAACP and the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. He has been honored with many citations for distinguished service by several organizations, and he has received an Outstanding Alumnus Award from Benedict College and from Teachers College of Columbia University. He has also received several honorary doctorate degrees and is listed in Who's Who Among Black Americans. Governor Beasley awarded him the Order of the Palmetto in 1997.

Dr. Richardson is hailed throughout the state as a leader who has dedicated his life to service. His dedication and leadership has been a beacon of light to a multitude of students.

SPEAKER...

As the college's chief administrator, Dr. Richardson participates in several programs on and off campus. His unique style of delivery makes him a sought after speaker for all ocassions.

FACE OF THE INSTITUTION...

For the past thirty-two years the name Luns C. Richardson has been synonomous with Morris College. In February 2006, Dr. Richardson was the face of the institution for the college's commercial which aired on WACH FOX 57 in honor of Black History Month.

DISTINGUISHED LEADER...

Dr. Richardson is well respected as a distinguished leader whose influence is traditional yet cutting edge. Throughout the years his leadership has nurtured many ongoing relationships with supporters world-wide. One of the college's most distinguished supporters is this year's commencement speaker and Board of Trustees member, Dr. Charles G. Adams of Detroit, Michigan.

AMBASSADOR FOR EXCELLENCE...

As an abassador for excellence, Dr. Richardson is affiliated and actively participates with several organizations, such as the United Negro College Fund (UNCF), that place education at the forefront of their mission and/or goals.

Office of the President

Dear Graduates of the Class of 2006:

We are often faced with some decisions that affect us for the short-term and with other decisions that affect us for the long-term. Sometimes, a decision that we make for the short term turns out to have a very great influence on our lives over the long term. Your decision to seek a college education and your selection of Morris College as the source of that education may have seemed at the time to be short-term decisions regarding how you would be spending the next four years of your life. However, you need only speak to other alumni who have appeared at forty-year and fifty-year reunions of their graduating classes to realize that the short-term decision to enroll at Morris has produced for them a long list of friendships, acquaintances, working skills, knowledge and organizational memberships that have influenced them for the rest of their lives.

This yearbook for the Class of 2006 is a chronicle of the major events that took place during your final year at Morris. However, you will find that during the many years ahead, you will be referring to it to remind you of all the things that you did and all the people with whom you associated during that last significant year as an undergraduate student. We hope that all of the remembrances that the yearbook inspires are positive ones and that you will become active members of a local alumni chapter and participants in annual alumni meetings. We also hope that you entered Morris College to learn. If you did, then we know that you will fulfill the college's motto and in turn depart to serve.

Good luck in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Luns C. Richardson

Luns C. Richardson
President

The Morris College Experience...

Webster's Dictionary defines "experience" as a direct observation or participation in events as a basis of knowledge. The Morris College experience is filled with a variety of memories that depict the many opportunities students receive at the college.

In addition to cultivating the minds of students, Morris College takes great pride in providing limitless experiences that also challenges students to exceed all standards, provides cultural enrichment, and encourages students to embark upon paths of success when they depart to serve.

Throughout this yearbook, you will have a pictorial view of this year's many highlights...

Cultural Enrichment

Determination

Sophistication

Challenge

Pride...

In addition to taking pride in the institution, the Morris College Family also takes pride in the community and our country. During the 2005-2006 academic year, everyone at Morris College continued to display their pride in activities such as campus clean-up, the Adopt-A-Highway program, Homecoming Week events, Constitution Day, the MLK Dream Walk, and several other activities and events on and off campus.

Challenge...

Morris College provides many opportunities in and out of the classroom that challenges us to grow and develop a commitment to serve upon graduation. Within our respective major area of study, some of these opportunities include rigorous day-to-day assignments and internships. Additional opportunities include athletics, service learning projects, quiz bowls, mock interviews, and more.

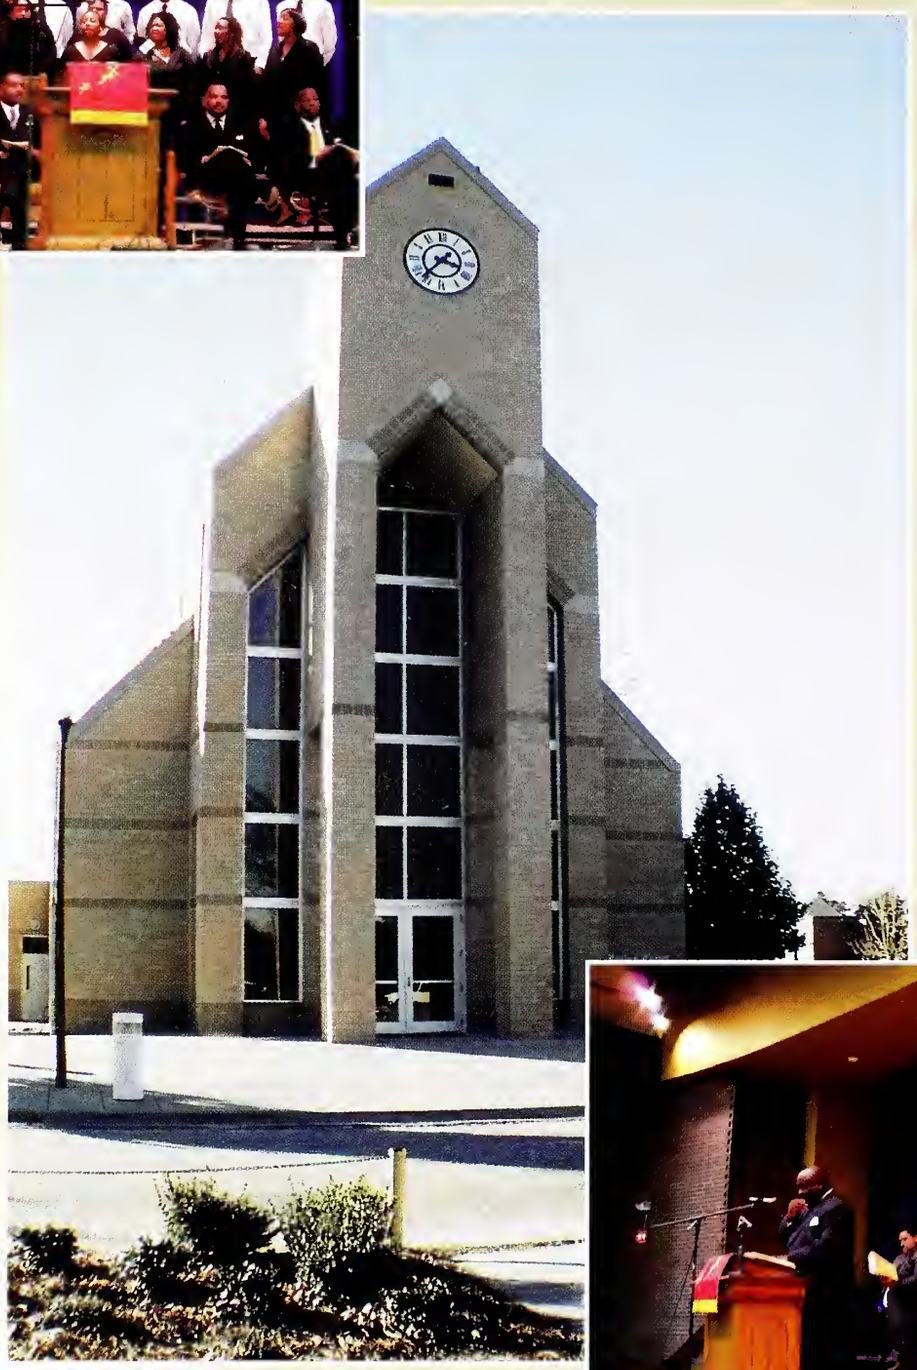
The SCSU Jazz Ensemble performs for Fine Arts Festival

Cultural Enrichment...

The 2005-2006 academic year was filled with a variety of events and students participated in numerous activities that were culturally enriching. Some of these events included the Sewoto Street Beat African Dancers, the Student Government Association's African Fashion Extravaganza, theatrical performances by the Morris College Players Drama Club, musical concerts presented by the Morris College Chorale and the Morris College Gospel Choir, and the annual Fine Arts Festival spearheaded by the Division of Religion and Humanities.

Community Service and Awareness...

Community service and awareness play a major role in the hearts and minds of everyone at Morris College. Throughout the year, there are a number of projects that Morris College participates in such as clothing and food drives, tutoring, and mentoring programs to name a few. In addition to volunteering in community service projects, the Morris College student body also takes an active role in supporting causes such as Red Ribbon Week and World AIDS Day which promote community awareness.



Faith...

As a religious oriented institution Morris College embraces opportunities for worship and spiritual fellowship. Some of the college's traditional worship experiences include Religious Emphasis Week, Pre-Easter and Pre-Christmas worship services, as well as weekly Bible Study and Chapel services on Sundays.

The Class of 2006

On May 6, 2006 Morris College awarded 158 baccalaureate degrees at the Sumter County Exhibition Center.

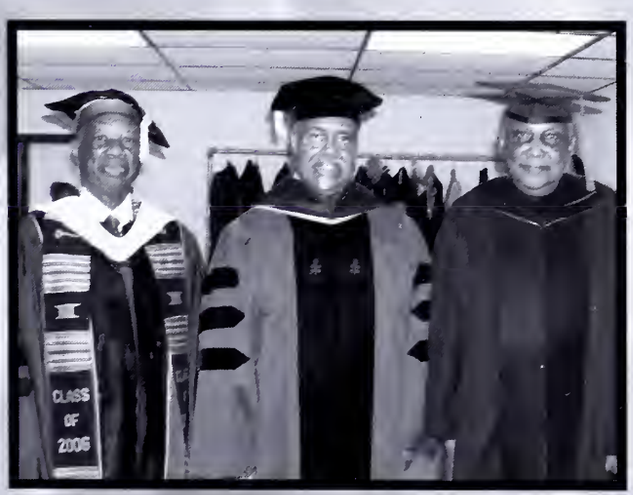
Highlights of Class Night and Graduation

Theme: "Transforming Adversity, Fulfilling Destiny"

The 2006 Class Night program took place on Friday, May 5, 2006 at 7 p.m. in the Neal-Jones Auditorium. During the program, six members of the Class of 2006 served as speakers representing the division of his/her respective major area of study. Ms. Erika Whiteside, Senior Class President, presided over the program.

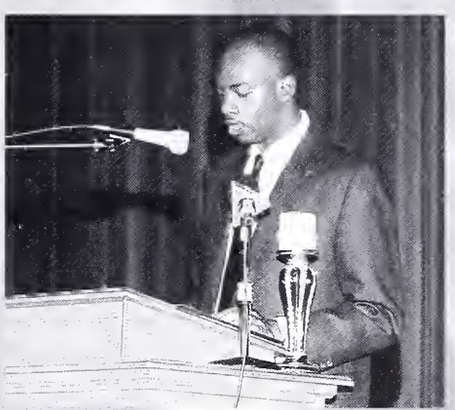
Commencement was held on Saturday, May 6, 2006 at 10 a.m. at the Sumter County Exhibition Center. This year's speaker was Dr. Charles G. Adams, Pastor of Hartford Memorial Baptist Church of Detroit, Michigan.



The Program...

On behalf of the Class of 2006, Erika Whiteside presents President Richardson with the class gift to the college.

Program participants join in with the audience to sing "Lift Ev'ry Voice and Sing" at the opening of the program.



Sheldon Pompey read the scripture and rendered prayer.

Donna Shaw provided the evening's occasion.

Chedric A. Jones, Sr. spoke on behalf of the Division of Social Sciences.

Stephanie Murphy spoke on behalf of the Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics.

Dianetta Redenburg-Newton spoke on behalf of the Division of Education.

Class Night

President Richardson presents the class gift to Etson Engley and other members of the graduating class.

Erika Whiteside passes the torch on to the incoming class president, Tegan T. Foster, during the Legacy and Torch Ceremony.

On behalf of the graduates from the Division of Social Sciences, Chedric A. Jones, Sr. makes a special presentation to Dr. Jacob E. Butler, Division Chairperson.

Shalon Richardson spoke on behalf of the MCMI Advance Degree Program.

Juanita Shepherd spoke on behalf of the Division of Business Administration.

Fay Cogdell spoke on behalf of the Division of Religion and Humanities.

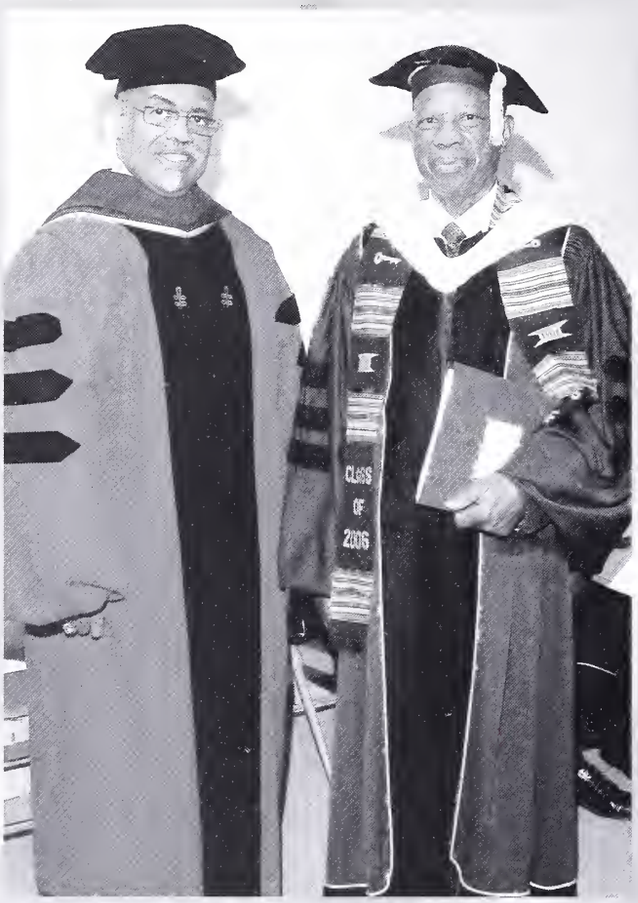
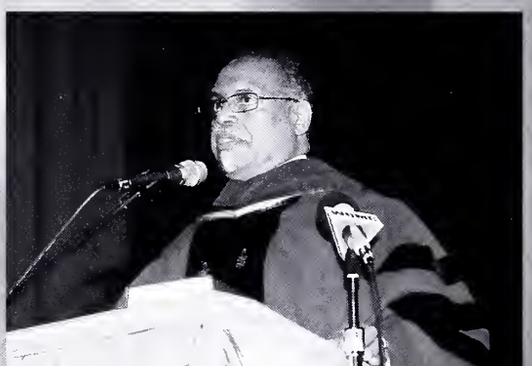
Dr. Charles G. Adams Delivers Commencement Address...

This year's commencement address was delivered by Reverend Dr. Charles G. Adams of Detroit, Michigan.



Dr. Willie E. Givens, Jr., Chairman of the Morris College Board of Trustees, shares remarks.



Dr. Adams delivers an inspiring commencement address.

The message was powerful and clear. With Genesis 9:20-21 as the scriptural text, Dr. Adams spoke from the subject, "Drunk On The Eve of Reconstruction." In his unique way of engaging an audience by tapping into their spirits, he shared the dangers of drunkenness and the destructive consequences the world will continue to encounter if we don't "sober up."

"Many of us today are drunk with the wrong attitude, worldliness, guilt, grief, and regret,"he said. He continued by sharing the story of Noah and his three sons; he gave insight to the many disparities facing not only African- Americans, but also the entire nation; he provided alarming statistics about the decline in economic empowerment among our race of people; and he spoke emphatically about the importance of strengthening our relationship with God and building up the church. "This is a critical hour and God is looking for those of us who are ready for the challenge," he proclaimed.

Mid-Winter Banquet/Rally

Dr. Dorothy Cowser Yancy Makes Morris College History

The name Dr. Dorothy Cowser Yancy has been written down in history not only for being named the first female president of Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte, NC, but she made Morris College history on February 24, 2006 when she became the first female speaker of the college's annual Mid-Winter Banquet/Rally.

Dr. Yancy spoke of the importance for students to usher in a commitment to service learning. She said, "You (students) are our crown jewels." "Now is the time for you to prepare to become caring and informed men and women," she later stated.

Leaders of the Baptist E&M Convention receive special recognition.

Student leaders were among the attendees supporting the annual event.

Morris Touched by Katrina

On September 8, 2005, President Richardson formally announced that the College would begin to receive donations from anyone who would like to contribute to provide assistance to those affected by Hurricane Katrina. Therefore, the collaboration among campus constituents actively moved this effort and worked closely with an ad hoc committee.

On behalf of the "Morris College Katrina Relief Fund," several monetary contributions were made and, equally, a variety of non-perishable items were also donated.

All monies and gifts contributed were given to the American Red Cross and other local agencies. One of these agencies was the North Hope Center. Mr. Norvell Jackson, Sr., North Hope Center Director, along with Ms. Mary Lee, Manager; and Mr. Larry McFadden , Assistant Manager, warmly welcomed Dr. Marion R. Sanford, Mr. Roy Graham, and Ms. Simona Allen when they delivered contributions on September 23.

2006 Homecoming Week

The 2006 Homecoming Week took place January 22-29. As a kick-off to the weeklong celebration, the college sponsored a Gospelfest on Sunday, January 22, which featured the Morris College Gospel Choir. Other performers included the Charleston Southern University Gospel Choir and Flossie Johnson and The Singing Sisters of Bishopville.

Other activities included Comedy Night; Hornets and Lady Hornets basketball games against Edward Waters College and North Greenville College; an Alumni mixer; the Homecoming Concert; Parents Day Luncheon; and the Homecoming Greek Step Show.

NCATE

The Standard of Excellence in Teacher Preparation

ACBSP

Association of Collegiate
Business Schools and Programs

Programs Receive National Accreditation

Two of the college's academic programs have obtained national accreditation. The Business Administration Program is nationally accredited through the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP) and the Teacher Education Program is nationally accredited through the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

ACBSP's mission is to establish, promote, and recognize educational practices that contribute to the continuous quality improvement of business education programs, teaching of business courses, and student learning outcomes in colleges and universities throughout the United States and abroad.

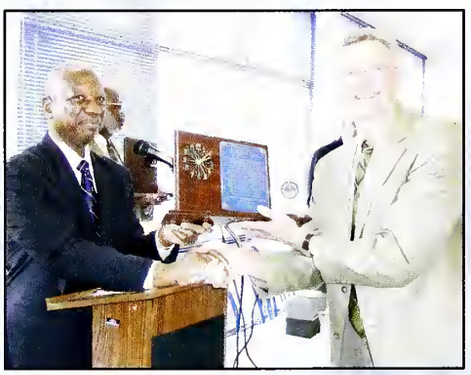
Established in 1988 and with more than 407 member institutions, ACBSP is the only business accrediting organization for both two year and four-year institutions.

In connection with ACBSP, the Morris College Business Administration Program will equip candidates with the knowledge needed to prepare them to achieve success in exploring new opportunities in an ever-changing global economy.

NCATE now accredits 623 colleges of education and these institutions produce more than two-thirds of the nation's new teacher graduates annually.

For candidates graduating from Morris College, it means they will be able to handle the demands of classroom on day one and know the subject matter and a variety of ways to teach to ensure student learning. They will also be able to nurture the growth and development of each student in their classes; manage classrooms with students from widely diverse backgrounds; and much more.

The goal of the Morris College Teacher Education Program is to "prepare teachers who are competent, critical thinkers, reflective practitioners, and caring."



STUDENT NEWSMAKERS

MORRIS COLLEGE STUDENTS have always proven their commitment to academic excellence and the 2005-06 academic year was no exception. Many students became newsmakers for a variety of reasons. Simona A. Allen, a senior history major from Abbeville, SC, was elected as the 2005-06 Student Government Association (SGA) President . In her role as SGA President, she represented the college at the Nissan North America first annual Nissan Student Government Leadership Program . The program was hosted August 7-10, 2005 on the historic campus of Tougaloo College in Tougaloo, Mississippi. According to Allen, "I gained insight on how to be an effective leader and the importance to lead by example ."

2005-06

Fall Speakers

FALL CONVOCATION 2005

"You must dig deep and apply yoursleves and determine what it is you want from Morris College - for there is a purpose to be fulfilled in your life," stated Dr. Glover, former state senator. Dr. Glover delivered a dynamic speech which gave the Morris College family fuel to move throughout the year.

SGA ASSEMBLY

"Just like the gazelle and the lion, you, too, must wake up every morning running," said Simona Allen during the annual Student Government Association assembly. As a part of her motivation she used words from famed lyricist, 'T.I.', '...let your haters be your motivators," and "keep on running toward your goals."

SENIOR CLASS ASSEMBLY

Dr. Jacob E. Butler, Jr., associate professor of political science and Chairperson of the Division of Social Sciences was the speaker for the Senior Class assembly. In his message, he told students, "You must now decide to first transform your thinking, change your environment, find mentors, and decide to do your own thing."

NAACP ASSEMBLY

Senator Kay Patterson began his speech with famous words from the late Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, "It must be borne in mind that the tragedy of life doesn't lie in not reaching your goal. The tragedy lies in not having a goal to reach." He continued, "Learn to treat your fellow man with dignity and respect, and remember the words of Dr. Mays when setting your goals."

HONORS DAY CONVOCATION

"Where there are no possibilities, there is no life, but because we have possibilites we must know the sky is the limit," stated Senator Darrell Jackson. His speech entitled,"A World of Possibilities" inspired students to achieve great success.

PRESIDENT'S LECTURE SERIES

Distinguished alumnus and trustee, Attorney Thomas B. Levy, was the featured speaker for the annual President's Lecture Series. Attorney Levy delivered an informative and motivational lecture that provided everyone with four character strengths for success.

JUNIOR CLASS ASSEMBLY

Class President, Carlton Allen was the speaker for the Junior Class assembly. Using music as his benchmark, Allen addressed the importance of not only enjoying today's music, but pulling from it the lessons to be learned from the lyrics. He used Anthony Hamilton's song, Coming Where I'm From, to make his point that, "Despite where you come from, your success begins with you."

BUSINESS WEEK

Mr. Earl Wilson stated the following as the ingredients to success, "Always do the right thing, remember anything is possible, stay focused, always be yourself, do the basics, accomplish as much as you can today, do not waste time, do not cut corners, be urgent in your business and goals, give back early and often, and put more into life than you get out of it."

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

During the college's observation of American Education Week, retired educator, Mr. Allie E. Brooks, Jr., was the featured speaker. "It is the educator's responisbility to move students from ordinary to distinction," he said as he explained the importance of education and the impact it has on shaping one's future.

ALPHA FOUNDERS DAY

Reverend A. D. Givens Little, pastor of the Abundant Life Prayer, Praise and Worship Center, Inc., was the featured speaker. He spoke of the many struggles and obstacles those who paved the way for all of us had to endure, and encouraged that we, too, "water the seeds of hope."

PRE-CHRISTMAS WORSHIP

The speaker was Dean Emerita of Student Affairs, Reverend Dr. Eliza E. Black. Rev. Black spoke passionaltely on the topic "Presenting the Christ of Christmas in The True Light." In conjunction with a moving message from Rev. Black, the audience enthusiastically sung "Go Tell it On the Mountain" at the end of the program.

PRESIDENT'S INFORMATIONAL AND MLK OBSERVANCE

On January 12, 2006, the Spring semester's first assembly was a combination of the annual President's Informational Session and one of the college's first programs to celebrate the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

President Richardson presided over the program. Student presenters were Brice Dixon, a senior sociology major from Bishopville, SC, and Quan Stewart, a junior political science major from Bennettsville, SC. Both received a standing ovation for their inspiring messages about Dr. King.

President Richardson, at the end of the program, shared vital information with the campus community and challenged faculty, staff, and students to, "Step Up the Pace" to achieve a successful performance for the semester.

ZETA/SIGMA FOUNDERS DAY

The theme, "Blazing the Road to Success through Academics and Leadership," was a fitting tribute to the years of service and leadership both organizations have dedicated to the Morris College campus. The program's featured speaker was Dr. Yvonne J. Barnes, assistant superintendent for instructions in Sumter County School District Seventeen.

DELTA FOUNDERS DAY

As a dedication to the founding principles of the sorority, the theme was the sorority's national theme, "One Mission, One Sisterhood: Empowering Communities through Committed Service." The featured speaker for the hour was health consultant, Dr. Vicki M. Young of Columbia, SC.

HONORS DAY CONVOCATION (SPRING)

Dr. Henry N. Tisdale, President of Claflin University, Orangeburg, SC, provided an inspirational convocation address during the college's annual Spring Honors Day Convocation. "Always strive for excellence. Let excellence be your number one priority in everything you do," he stated.

SOPHOMORE CLASS ASSEMBLY

When the Sophomore Class held its annual assembly on February 9, 2006, Dr. Maggie Wallace Glover, was the featured speaker. As a part of her message, she encouraged students to equip themselves academically and prepare for competion in a growing global market.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

Religious Emphasis Week at Morris College is one of many traditions embraced by the campus family, religious leaders, and the Sumter community.

For the sixth consecutive year, the guest preacher for the annual Religious Emphasis Week was Reverend Dr. Charles B. Jackson, Sr., pastor of Brookland Baptist Church in West Columbia, SC.

Among his many sermons he delivered and eye-opening message entitled, "Do You Want To Be Healed?" The scriptural text was John 5:6. Rev. Jackson said, "In order to be healed, we must do three things. First, we must get up and stop making excuses. Then we should take up our bed by changing our circumstances and finally, we must walk by showing the difference in our lives."

NEONS ASSEMBLY

When Dr. Annette M. West spoke at the annual NEONS assembly, her message addressed the importance of stretching one's capabilities in order to reach superiority in academic excellence. Additionally, she shared her personal experiences as a student at Morris College and commended professors like Dr. Ibe for pushing her and for being a role model and mentor for her academic success.

WHO'S WHO HONOR CONVOCATION

"Dreaming things has been the mantra of several generations. You are being applauded today for being among the best and the brightest," proclaimed Judge Reginald I. Lloyd. Lloyd, a native of Camden, SC, is the first African American and the 48th Presidentially appointed US Attorney for the District of South Carolina.

MINISTERIAL EXTENSION GRADUATION

Reverend Dr. E. B. Burroughs was the speaker for the Ministerial Extention Program. During the program, Rev. Burroughs' words of encouragement challenged each graduate to make a difference in the lives of others around them.

PRE-EASTER ASSEMBLY

Dr. Cokley delivered a sermon that Dr. Richardson commented was, "a dynamic and penetrating message of hope." Dr. Cokley spoke from from the subject, "The Resurrection, A Caveat of Change." "The Resurrection of Jesus Christ changes us from who we were, to what we ought to become," he said when explaining the powerful transformation our lives undergo when we know Christ.

"Gems of Wisdom" 2006 BEEP Visit

On March 23, 2006, students had an opportunity to receive "Gems of Wisdom" from seventeen "visiting professors" with the Black Executive Exchange Program (BEEP) during the Career Service Center annual assembly program. Annually, the BEEP Career Fest is sponsored by the Morris College Career Services Center in collaboration with the National Urban League. This year's event was held March 22-24.

The mission of BEEP is to share learning experiences across generations, cultivate new leaders, and inspire achievements "beyond the possible" through committed involvement and operational excellence.

Mr. Maurice Henderson, a retired executive with Lucent Technologies, served as moderator for the program. In his opening remarks, Mr. Henderson stated, "We are here today to share with you gem of wisdom through a fire hose. Are you thirsty?" He went on to share the importance of the opportunities the day and a half experience will offer each student and the role each "visiting professor" will play in quenching the thirst for knowledge of each Morris College student.

True to the mission of BEEP, the "visiting professors" provided brief personal and professional insight during the assembly. Among the many "gems of wisdom," students heard about the following keys to success: preparation; appearance; the ability to articulate skills; the ability to listen; the importance of valuing quality education and ensuring learning is continuous; displaying a positive attitude; controlling behavior; the importance of learning about other cultures; becoming bilingual; learning to become technologically proficient; and time management. Additionally, the "visiting professors" provided eye-opening comments about the importance of ensuring that background checks don't eliminate them from future job opportunities; building good credit; continuous and constructive self-development; networking; accountability; dependability; and the flexibility to accept change.

Fine Arts Festival

Throughout the year, Morris College provides a variety of programs and events designed to culturally enrich its students. In collaboration with the college's efforts, the Division of Religion and Humanities annually sponsors a weeklong celebration in April known as the Fine Arts Festival.

This year's activities included performances by the Celebration Gospel Ensemble; The South Carolina State Jazz Esemble of South Carolina State University in Orangeburg, SC; the Coker College Dance Ensemble of Coker College in Hartsville, SC; and Mrs. Penny Baker, a singer, musican, and piano instructor.

According to Dr. Leroy Staggers, Academic Dean, "The performances and events of the week prove to us that performing arts do teach and instruct us in a unique way. Our development is incomplete without adequate exposure to the arts." Other activities for the week included a "Tasting Fair," which gave attendees an opportunity to taste a variety of foods from other cultures; a poetry reading; and a display of students presentations.

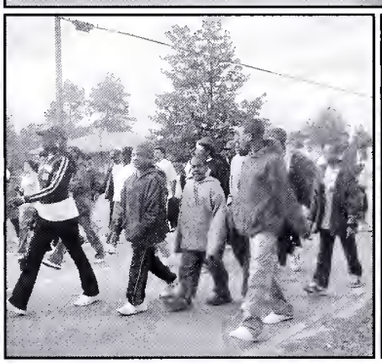
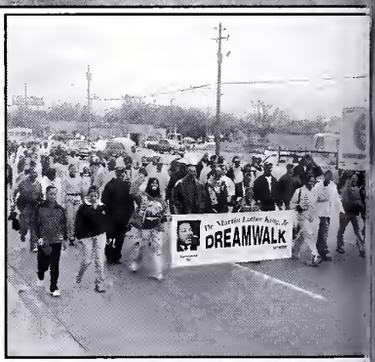
Morris College students, faculty, staff, and alumni, along with hundreds of others, participated in the Sixth Annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dream Walk on January 16, 2006. Each year, Morris co-sponsors the walk with USC-Sumter, Central Carolina Technical College, and the Sumter Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Alston Freeman, Director of Student Activities, represents the College on the community effort to acknowledge and celebrate the meaning and purpose of the 'King Holiday.'





Sumter County Chief of Police, Patty Jaye Garrett Patterson, was one of many community leaders to particapate in the annual Dream Walk.

Students, faculty, staff, and alumni made up the Morris College Team.

Science In Action Week

The Morris College Division of Natural Sciences and Mathemathics hosted its annual Science in Action Week April 10-14, 2006. This year's Science in Action Week was a special occasion to celebrate the research achievements of current students and the accomplishments of graduates.

The five stellar graduates to return to the campus were: Dr. John Bell, Dr. Kareem Spratling, Dr. McKaren Williamson-Lewis, Mr. Quentin Ballard, and Ms. JiMiesh Green. During the weeklong celebration, the entire campus community, especially biology and mathematics majors had an opportunity to examine research project posters and particpate in health screenings. Additionally, the division's assembly program featured Dr. Renae Brodie as the speaker. On April 12, the annual Research and Achievement Banquet was held in the Daniels Dining Hall. The keynote speaker was Dr. Nathaniel Knox.

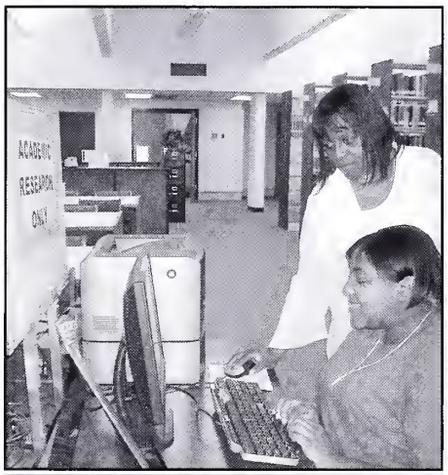
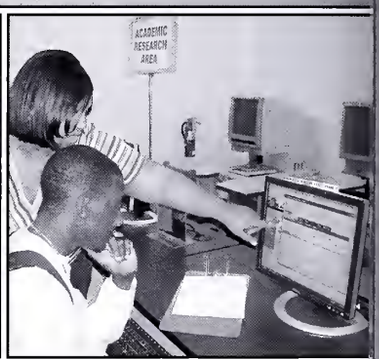
Dr. Nathaniel Knox, Associate Provost and Associate VP for Academic Affairs at Morgan State University, Baltimore, Maryland, was the speaker for the banquet.

National Library Week and Week of the Young Child





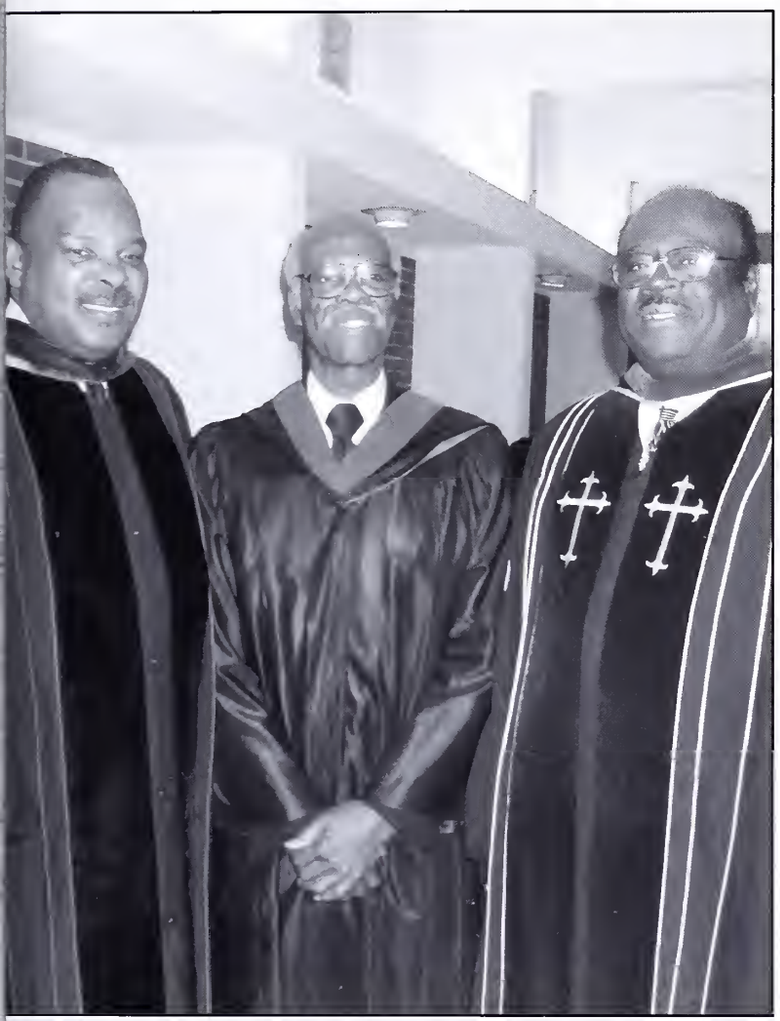
The Richardson-Johnson Learning Resources Center (LRC) observed National Library Week April 2-8, 2006. This year's theme, "Change Your World at Your Library," was the benchmark for the weeklong observance to celebrate the contributions of libraries, librarians, and library workers.

The LRC has a variety of books, magazines, databases, and free Internet accesses that can help to change the world of academia. As part of the annual event, the LRC hosted a variety of programs and events that included video presentations; academic displays; and the reading of stories from the Curriculum Materials Collection to children in the Head Start program.

During the same time, the Morris College Early Childhood Education Program, along with the National Association for the Education of Young Children, sponsored activities in honor of Week of The Young Child April 2-6. This annual celebration calls attention to the needs and support given to young children.

One of the week's highlights was the "Reading Time" to the children enrolled at the Rubye J. Johnson Head Start Learning Centers.

Ministerial Extension Program



The Morris College Ministerial Extension Centers Closing Convocation was held on April 26, 2006 in the Neal-Jones Auditorium. The speaker for the occasion was Dr. Ernest B. Burroughs, pastor of Cherry Grove Baptist Church, Darlington, SC; and instructor for the Cheraw Extension Center.

2005-2006 Student Organizations

At Morris College, students are provided with an array of opportunities to participate in the College experience. One way students become actively involved is through their affiliation in student organizations. There are several organizations that include academic clubs, honor societies, music groups, religious organizations, and Greek-letter organizations to name a few.

Student Government Association (SGA)

BACK ROW - Terrell Gibson, Business Manger; Shante Myers, Parlimentarian; Erika Whiteside, Second Attendant to Miss Morris College; Christopher Grady, Chaplain; and Bryan Flournoy, Treasurer.

FRONT ROW - Iashea Simmons, First Attendant to Miss Morris College; Valerie Henry, Secretary; Ashley Penn, Second Vice President; Samantha Keeby, Miss Morris College 2005-2006; Simona Allen, SGA President; Jacinta Rogers, Student Representattive to the Board of Trustees; Andrea Perkins, Assistant Secretary; and Tegan Foster, First Vice President.
